ABOUT US

Amitansh is a product development part of Amitansh Thinking studio.

Our idea behind developing products is to work with new Materials and technique with handicraft artisans of India and to Introduce then with new opportunities.

It is founded by Amitanshu Shrivastava a product designer.

We see a great opportunity of Product design with craftsmen and craft clusters. Unlike machines, humans add a very personal touch to the products.

Our design process is to question and change the material, utility of things and their perception and thus define the possibility of new products.

About Grey Matter

It is our first range of products in concrete where we have experimented with the material and see its properties ,

So for the first range we have not achieved our forms using casting have used turning with concrete.

In this process we have used other forms of aggregate then just sand. We have used marble as our aggregate in many of our products to give an interesting texture.

The product is made by Marble turning artisans in Jaipur.
